December Home Matters

A message from our Executive Director

It has been a huge month with two significant pieces of primary research that Q Shelter has supported.

Unmet housing need

Q Shelter invested in a report led by CHIA National and delivered by the University of New South Wales examining unmet housing need in Australia. This takes into account homelessness, overcrowding and lack of affordability for lower income households.

It shows significant and growing unmet need projecting forward unless there are focussed housing system interventions. The report suggests a need for 6.5% annual growth in non-market housing to meet demand. This report is based on the 2021 Census, with more data to come for each local government area. Our investment is intended to help regional areas understand housing need in their communities as a basis for growth planning. You can read the summary report here.

Rental Affordability Index

Each year, National Shelter with SGS Economics & Planning launches the Rental Affordability Index (RAI) in November. Jackson Hills has been in Canberra for three days supporting the launch. It shows significant lack of affordability driven by the overall lack of supply. It examines household level scenarios with people on aged pensions likely to pay more than 50% on rent, and young people on benefits more than 90%. You can read the report here with interactive maps to look further at the regional level. Great work by our colleague Emma Greenhalgh and the National Shelter Council.

Summit report pending

As the State Government prepares to release the report from the Queensland Housing Summit, Q Shelter is aware there are many stakeholders, across all sectors, hard at work on ideas and initiatives to help tackle the problem. At Q Shelter we have an unprecedented level of interest from regions asking for assistance to develop regional plans and leadership structures. Q Shelter is engaged every step of the way with Government to help shape the future of housing and homelessness responses in Queensland.

A nod to the hard work of the past

It's precisely because of the hard work of all our members, staff and supporters that we are in the position to achieve all this and continue to contribute to housing solutions in Queensland. Let me thank the many Q Shelter alumni and former staff who joined us for our 35-year celebration following our AGM and publishing of our Annual Report, which you can read more about below. The celebration will go down in my memory as one of the most important events in my history with Q Shelter.

Yours sincerely,

Fiona Caniglia

Celebrating 35 years and our AGM

Thanks to Darren Mew and all of Q Shelter's outgoing and incoming Management Committee members for a warm and reflective AGM.

We welcome those newly elected to our Management Committee, Dr Tanya Bell, Kim Rawlings and Neil McAllister, and thank them for volunteering to contribute to Q Shelter in this way.

Our 2022 Deirdre Coghlan Bursary winners were announced during the AGM. Congratulations to Jen Peterson from Housing Older Women Movement, Dianne Estreich from WIN Housing Projects Pty Ltd, Emma Stafford from QulHN, Tanya Sanders from Yoorana Women's Domestic Violence and Resource Centre, and The Immediate Support Accommodation Team from Kingston East Neighbourhood Centre.

We took the opportunity to celebrate 35 years as an organisation following our AGM, and to also launch the Kent Maddock Memorial Award. It was amazing to have founding members such as Jon Eastgate and Helen Wallace in attendance, and a huge effort from our first CEO Eleri Morgan-Thomas, who travelled from Sydney to be there. Adrian Pisarski regaled us with funny but important stories and the alumni helped express their original hopes for the future as founding members.

Economic Development Queensland Forum

Our Executive Director, Fiona Caniglia, was privileged to be part of a panel of speakers at a recent Economic Development Queensland (EDQ) Forum. Fiona took the opportunity to give an overview of the current issues faced in the affordable housing sector and to point to future important areas of shared interest.

We look forward to ongoing engagement with EDQ, as they play a critical role in housing supply. Q Shelter extends a special thanks to General Manager, Debbie McNamara, for the invitation to participate.

CEO and Leaders' Forum

It was amazing to host our biggest ever CEO and Leaders' Forum with a great line up of content on Wednesday 16 November.

The day included a deep dive on the Go For Gold Report in addition to a keynote address by futurist Dr Colin Russo. We then examined three areas of dialogue Q Shelter is helping to facilitate, including economic modelling about growth scenarios for community housing, how to build community support for housing diversity, and how to diversify funding streams through philanthropy.

It was a great day with so much food for thought. Please let us know what you thought of this latest forum.

NAB announcement

Q Shelter was pleased to see the announcement by NAB earlier this week, as they set a new target to lend a further $6 billion by 2029 for affordable and specialist housing. We look forward to meeting with them to find ways to work together.

First ATSIHQ Conference

Q Shelter would like to thank Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander Housing Queensland (ATSIHQ) for inviting us to attend and participate at their Housing First Nations Conference held in Brisbane last month. We acknowledge the stellar efforts of CEO Neil Willmetts and the team in organising a great program for the two-day event, and we look forward to joining you for many more in the future.

Brisbane

November saw the Brisbane team join and support many of the working groups and sector activities in the area.

The Tenancy Sustainment Working Group, connected to Brisbane's Place-based Leadership Team, sets out to explore, design and implement a coordinated tenancy sustainment approach for at-risk tenants exiting crisis accommodation into long-term social housing. The focus is on people who are currently in crisis accommodation, people who have previously had 'failed' social housing tenancies, and those who have multiple complex barriers to sustaining tenancies.

As part of the AOD in Residential Settings Best Practice Framework Working Group on 14 November, Q Shelter and QNADA (the Qld peak for AOD services) prepared a proposal to fund development of this framework in line with commitments under Queensland's Housing Strategy. We hope to know if we have been successful early in 2023.

Together with Fiona Kerr at Communitary's Recovery and Wellness Centre in Bardon, we have developed an 'Introduction to Housing and Homelessness' training and information piece, which we will deliver in the new year. It is especially aimed at service delivery teams whose core business isn't housing work, for example mental health services, and family support services.

On 23 November, we met at the monthly SHS Professional Practice Framework, Guidelines and Standards Advisory Panel. The Queensland Hoarding and Squalor Strategy (QLD HandS) meeting was held on Monday 28 November, at the Q Shelter office.

The Local Inala Stakeholders are holding a Disaster Resilience and Wellbeing Expo at the Inala PCYC on Tuesday 13 December.

Logan

Logan region have recently been focusing on Hoarding and Squalor. Three meetings have been held incorporating multiple services and representatives within the Logan area. The focus of these meetings is to identify the current services who are funded to deliver hoarding and squalor support, and to identify further areas of need.

Logan's face-to-face meetings are continuing to flourish with the addition of new organisations into Logan Care Coordination (LCCG). This has resulted in effective outcomes for clients referred to LCCG and outstanding service collaboration.

Meetings are run every second Tuesday 11:00am – 1:00pm at Access Community Services. The final meeting for 2022 will be held on Tuesday 13 December, and meetings will recommence on Tuesday 10 January 2023.
